

WORKFORCE DEVELOPMENT AT MONROE:

SPECIALIZED TRAINING PROGRAMS FOR LAW ENFORCEMENT AND UNIFORMED POLICE FORCES

Law enforcement science and philosophy have changed dramatically in recent years, with a renewed focus on providing uniformed police with ongoing skills training in areas such as bias training, de-escalation, community policing, use of force concerns, victimology, and responding to domestic violence and mental wellness situations.

The School of Criminal and Social Justice at Monroe College has partnered with police organizations across the Caribbean to help elevate and modernize the skills of police professionals through specialized training programs to better prepare them for career success in today's policing environment.

SHORT-TERM CUSTOMIZED TRAINING WORKSHOPS

The programming available through Monroe's School of Criminal and Social Justice is designed to reflect the specific needs of local police and the unique communities they serve.

Our faculty have extensive "real world" policing experience, with many having served in the senior ranks of the New York Police Department and as instructors and curriculum-builders within its police academy.

Workshop content and length would be determined in consultation with the sponsoring country or agency, delivered on-site, online, or a combination of both.

Workshops typically cover important themes such as

- ▶ Standards in use-of-force
- ▶ Fundamentals of victimology
- ▶ Understanding criminal mindsets
- ▶ Best practices in responding to domestic violence incidents
- ▶ The essentials for productive interview techniques
- ▶ Crisis de-escalation techniques
- ▶ Leadership skills in today's challenging environment
- ▶ Evidence collection and management
- ▶ Effective police recruitment and retention measures
- ▶ Resilience training for mental wellness
- ▶ Community policing 101
- ▶ Fundamentals in human rights

DEGREE PROGRAMS

In addition to short-term workforce training programs, Monroe also partners with Caribbean countries and their police agencies to provide opportunities for police professionals to pursue college degrees at both the undergraduate and graduate level.

We offer Associate, Bachelor's and Master's degrees in Criminal Justice, as well as undergraduate degrees in Human Services.

Classes may be taken online or at our campuses in New York (Bronx or New Rochelle); some degree programs are also offered at our St. Lucia campus. We also offer the opportunity for students to pursue their degrees online with two-, four-, and 15-week in-person sessions in the final semester in New York.

Monroe is proud to offer special, reduced tuition pricing to help make a college degree more affordable for uniformed police professionals through this program.

- ▶ Training starts at $1,500 US per day
