

CLINTON FOUNDATION HAITI FUND

HAITI.CLINTONFOUNDATION.ORG

Since the January 2010 earthquake, the Clinton Foundation has been turning the donations of money and supplies made by individuals and organizations into direct assistance for the people and government of Haiti. More than 100,000 individuals have donated more than $16.4 million to the Clinton Foundation Haiti Fund. Thanks to supporters and partners, the total value of assistance to Haiti provided through the Foundation's efforts has been approximately $23 million to date. The Foundation has also provided over $1 million of pro bono support including staffing, administration, technical assistance and fundraising for President Clinton's work in Haiti.

The Clinton Foundation continues to respond to critical needs in Haiti and has focused efforts on Haiti's long-term development and strategic planning. These efforts include private sector investments and job creation as well as capacity building and expanding access to education. The Clinton Foundation continues to work closely with the Haitian government on all aspects of the recovery efforts. In 2011 President Clinton served as Co-Chair of the Interim Haiti Recovery Commission and the newly established Presidential Advisory Council on Economic Growth and Investment. Throughout 2011, the Foundation provided technical assistance and capacity building support for both institutions.

2011 PROGRESS HIGHLIGHTS

The Clinton Foundation provided $500,000 to support a conference on housing and a Housing Exposition; $1.25 million to support the government of Haiti's Back to School initiative; and a $500,000 capacity building grant to the Government of Haiti.

The Clinton Foundation facilitated the signing of a development and operating agreement between Marriott and Digicel to build a 174-room Marriott branded hotel in the Turgeau area of Port-au-Prince. Once complete, the new hotel will create 175 sustainable jobs.

The Clinton Foundation co-hosted the second Haiti Investors Conference with the Government of Haiti and the Inter-American Development Bank. More than 1,100 Haitian and international investors registered, with 479 international attendees representing 32 countries.

The Clinton Global Initiative Haiti Action Network members have made a total of 60 commitments to Haiti valued at more than $300 million.

- President Clinton presided over the laying of the first stone to construct an industrial park in the northern city of Caracol. The development of the Caracol Park has been a collaboration between the Clinton Foundation, Haitian government, Inter-American Development Bank and U.S. State Department. The Korean apparel manufacture Sae-A will be the anchor tenant and will create 20,000 jobs. Origin Holdings, a large U.S. furniture company and Sherwin Williams, a U.S. paint company, will be the second and third tenants in the park.
- The Clinton Foundation is helping to revitalize the Haitian coffee sector by working with the Ministry of Agriculture to host a successful Haitian Coffee Summit with more than 70 participants representing Haitian coffee cooperatives, growers associations and international buyers as well as representatives from Haitian and International coffee companies.
- The Haiti Development Fund, funded by the Clinton Giustra Sustainable Growth Initiative and Carlos Slim, approved its first investment of U.S. $415,000 in Caribbean Craft, a Haitian artisan and handicraft company that exports its products to Macy's, Anthropologie, West Elm and Donna Karan.

HUMANITARIAN RELIEF AND RECOVERY

Since the 2010 Earthquake

- Issued $3 million in grants to 16 organizations

LONG-TERM RECOVERY EFFORTS

As part of its commitment to long-term recovery in Haiti, the Clinton Foundation has:

- Committed $1.5 million in response to the cholera outbreak to fund both immediate and long-term responses focused on education and prevention.

- Committed $1 million to establish and improve communal shelters that will also serve as schools in Léogâne.
- Helped to develop the Digicel Haitian Entrepreneur of the Year award, a program which seeks to identify, reward, and cultivate entrepreneurs whose business initiative can give Haiti new economic strongholds.
- Worked with the Solar Electric Light Fund and NRG Energy to create a model solar projects in the Central Plateau working with the local communities. Clinton Global Initiative members have made a $1 million commitment toward the project.
- Worked with Caribbean Harvest to expand their successful fish farm model – which improves income for local fisherman and fights community malnutrition – by facilitating a $250,000 grant from the Brinks Foundation and a solar donation for the project.
- Helped Haitian artisans expand their access to markets by facilitating new transactions to major department stores and retailers such as Macy's, Breuningers, Resotation Hardware, West Elm, and Home Goods.
- Worked closely with Greif to facilitate a donation of 40 tons of steel to support the work of the Croix des Bouquets metal artisans and associated health and safety training programs for the artisans. Also the donation of a rainwater catchment and storage system for the village of Madan Belize in the Lake Azeui area.
- Collaborated with Digicel, architectural firm McAslan + Partners, the mayor of Port-au-Prince and ISPAN to rebuild Haiti's Iron Market in downtown Port-au-Prince – a symbol of Haiti's rich history and promising future.
- Helped to develop an initiative to preserve the Citadelle Laferrière and Sans-Souci Palace, strengthening historic work around historic monuments and improving the area to attract further tourism, through the Foundation's work with Royal Caribbean, IDB, ISPAN, Ministry of Tourism, and World Heritage Fund.
- Facilitated more than 30 investor missions to Haiti from large corporations, foundations and foreign governments. Delegations meet with their private sector and Haitian government counterparts and identified investment opportunities in a variety of economic sectors including agriculture, manufacturing, energy and tourism.
